Final peace offer, says Israeli official

By The Associated Press
Israel's latest proposals to Egypt for an interim agreement in the Sinai desert are Jerusalem's final offer, Defense Minister Shimon Peres said today.

In an interview with the Tel Aviv newspaper Haaretz, Peres said Israel had gone "a long, long way" and he could not envision any more Israeli concessions to Egypt.

If Cairo's latest proposals are

Woodhaven thefts are investigated

Lee County Sheriff's Deputies are continuing their investigation into the theft of more than $2,200 in merchandise from a trailer at Woodhaven Lakes and two other burglaries at the recreation center, located south of Amboy.

Deputies were called to the site Sunday where they were met by Kevin Sporleder, Sublette and Ken Taylor, Naperville, both employees at Woodhaven. The men said entry was made to a trailer housing the merchandise which included watches, stereo sets and record players being used in a sales promotion at Woodhaven. Entry was believed made through a window on the west side of the trailer.

Taken were 110 men's self-winding watches valued at $825; 81 ladies watches valued at $607 and 31 stereo record players valued at $775.

One of two all-terrain vehicles reportedly stolen was recovered in a separate theft. Jim Caenisch, a security guard at Woodhaven said the 3-wheel vehicles were believed taken Saturday. One of the reddish-colored vehicles was found later on Caenisch's property. Each vehicle was valued at $750.

James Toops, Byron reported the theft of an AM-FM radio taken from his trailer after entry was made by breaking a window pane. Toop's trailer was ransacked, deputies said.

Gurney's fate into hands of Tampa jury

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The trial of former Sen. Edward Gurney and three other men charged with conspiring to raise an illegal slush fund went to a jury today after 22 weeks of testimony and legal arguments.

U.S. Dist. Judge Ben Krentzman completed his instructions to the jury earlier and held a half-hour bench conference before sending the panel off to begin deliberating.

The case reached the jury at 11:45 a.m. Gurney also is charged with bribery, accepting unlawful compensation and lying to the federal grand jury that indicted him a year ago. He faces a maximum jail sentence of 42 years if convicted of all the charges.

Bastien additionally is charged with receiving unlawful compensation — $180 a month apartment rent from a builder in return for FHA help. All of the defendants have taken the stand and denied the charges.

The case centered around the fund raising activities of Larry Williams, who testified for the government that he collected $400,000 in Gurney's name between 1971-73.

included alternative deployments at the passes but did not concede their strategic value.

He said the latest Egyptian proposal showed Sadat wanted "a great deal from Israel in exchange for nothing."

Rabin told Israeli state television Friday that Israel had turned down Cairo's offers "in their main part," and predicted the negotiations would be prolonged.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger met Sunday with Herman Eilts, the U.S. ambassador to Egypt, and sent him back to Cairo with Israel's latest reply to the Egyptians.

Kissinger directed Eilts to meet him in Yugoslavia next Sunday with the response.

$103,000 suit over accident

A $103,000 damage suit was filed in the office of the Lee County Circuit Clerk Friday.

The suit stemmed from an accident on the night of Jan. 26, 1974, in which a 15-year-old pedestrian, Thomas J. Kenney, was struck by a car driven by Dennis J. Barringer, Steward. The suit which was filed by the Kenney boy and his father charges that negligent driving on the part of Barringer brought about the accident in which Kenney was permanently injured. Barringer is said to have driven off Perry Road, in Steward, and struck the youth who was walking on the left shoulder of the road.

According to the report issued by Lee County Sheriff's Deputies at the time Kenney was walking in the center of the road when he was struck. Barringer reportedly claimed that he was unable to see the pedestrian because of heavy rain and darkness at the time.

Barringer was not issued a traffic ticket after the mishap. The damages are being sought to cover medical expenses to treat Kenney's injuries from the accident.

A jury trial has been demanded. No hearing date has been set.

Ford begins visit in Poland

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — President Ford flew to Poland today for a two-day official visit, the first in a series of meetings with East European Communist leaders.

The President was greeted at Warsaw's military airport by Polish Communist party leader Edward Gierek, President Henryk Jablonski and Premier Piotr Jaroszewicz.

After a welcoming ceremony, Ford and Gierek left the airport in an open limousine and drove through streets lined with cheering Poles to Ford's guest residence in the Royal Wilanow Palace just outside the capital.

Ford arrived in Warsaw after talks with West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt in Bonn that focused chiefly on Western economic ills, and a symbolic visit to American and German troops at a remote outpost known to those stationed there as "the Rock."

Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger held a final session with Schmidt and German Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher over breakfast today at Gymnich Castle.

The breakfast was considerably delayed, however, when Schmidt's helicopter had to turn back halfway between Bonn and Gymnich because of thick fog. His party waited for limousines to pick them up before continuing on their way to meet Ford.

The presidential visit to West Germany was capped Sunday night by a three-hour state dinner aboard a Rhine cruise ship that passed the peak where, according to legend, Siegfried slew the dragon — a local tale like that of David and Goliath.

Hardly noted, with overcast skies almost obscuring a nearly full moon, were the pilings of the destroyed bridge at Remagen, a strategic objective that American forces seized from Hitler's legions near the end of World War II.

Ironically, one stop scheduled for the President and Mrs. Ford in Warsaw was the reconstructed Old Town section destroyed principally by the Nazis in that same war.

Wars past did not figure in Ford's two-night stay in Bonn, however. He and Schmidt and advisors, including Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, talked chiefly about cooperation to end a deep economic slump embracing virtually all the non-Communist developed countries.

Following a meeting that ran 30 minutes beyond the time allotted, Ford told newsmen: "The chancellor and I agreed that it was vitally important that the economic policies of Germany and the European community be integrated with our own economic policies."

Schmidt said the subject would be pursued at a meeting in Helsinki, Finland, following Ford's stop in Poland. Ford, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing.

Heads of 35 governments, including Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, will gather in Helsinki to sign a nonbinding statement of principles intended to guide their conduct toward each other and, to some extent, toward their own citizens.

Ford has come under some criticism at home for willingness to sign an agreement regarded in some quarters as tacitly accepting Soviet dominance in eastern Europe.

Ford has countered that the agreement may promote better relations among nations and cannot do any harm. In addition, he told interviewers from Newsweek magazine, he intends to express American misgivings before he signs the document and will tell the Soviets he will measure their intentions by how they live up to it.

U.S. trade surplus in June sets record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because of a big drop in oil imports, the United States had a record monthly trade surplus in June of more than $1.7 billion, the government said today.

It was the fifth straight monthly surplus in the surprisingly strong trade sector of the economy, the Commerce Department said.

The quantity of oil imported during June fell 26 per cent from May, to a low for the year of nearly 118.2 million barrels. It had been 159 million barrels in May.

By importing less oil, the United States saved $499 million over May, as the value of oil imports declined to slightly more than $1.3 billion, also a low for the year. May oil imports were valued at more than $1.8 billion.

The Commerce Department said the nation's trade surplus for the first six months of the year totaled more than $5.4 billion, compared with a deficit of more than $2.4 billion last year.

The huge surplus has surprised most government economists, since it had been expected that the nation's trade would be in deficit again this year by as much as $2 billion. The Commerce Department said that if trade activity continues at the same pace in the final six months of the year, the nation could end the year with an all-time record trade surplus of more than $10.9 billion.

The existing record was a $7.1 billion surplus in 1964.

One reason given for the strong U.S. trade activity is that foreign demand for U.S. goods has improved, while the recession in this country has resulted in fewer imports from abroad.

President Ford's $2-a-barrel tariff on imports also may have been a factor in the decline in oil imports in June.

Total exports during June totaled $8,691.5 million, up 6.7 per cent from May, while imports totaled $6,954.2 million, 2 per cent below May imports, leaving a surplus of $1,737.3 million. The figures were adjusted for seasonal variation.

Reagan encouraged by audience response

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ronald Reagan says he won't "just jump off of a cliff with the flag flying" and enter the race for president if the odds are too great against him.

But the 64-year-old former California governor said he is encouraged by the response of audiences and local Republican leaders to his most recent national speaking tour.

Reagan, who finished a six-state, 8,500-mile tour Saturday, said he still didn't know enough about the extent of his support to decide whether to run against President Ford for the GOP nomination in 1976. But he said he was pleased with last week's trip, which was climaxed with hundreds of "Reagan-for-President" signs and a cheering, enthusiastic crowd at a Raleigh, N.C., rally.

He also spoke at fund-raising events in Tacoma, Wash., Montana, North and South Dakota and Virginia.

Even in the most remote stops the response seemed uniformly friendly.

"You have to feel it was successful," Reagan said. "In most places we were told it was the biggest turnout they ever had. And obviously, my remarks were well received. So you feel good about it."

10-day seclusion ahead for astronauts

HONOLULU (AP) — The three Apollo astronauts, their lungs still congested from inhaling rocket fuel fumes, face a 10-day period of seclusion here because they are vulnerable to infections.

Doctors said Sunday they plan to release Thomas Stafford, Donald Slayton and Vance Brand from Tripler Army Hospital on Tuesday, then place them in "semi-isolation." Their wives were to fly here from the Houston area after it was decided exactly where the astronauts would be kept.

The isolation period — which had not been mentioned by the doctors until Sunday — is intended to keep the astronauts away from other people, who might expose them to germs that would not harm a healthy person.

Dr. Peter Bartelloni, chief of medicine at the hospital, said the toxic gas the crewmen breathed last Thursday has disabled lung cells that normally fight infections.

Originally, the men were to have been flown home as soon as they were discharged. It was decided to keep them in Hawaii, said Bartelloni, for several reasons: so that treatment can be continued by the same doctors; to avoid the long, tiring flight to Houston, and because seclusion would be easier to arrange here.

Bartelloni and Apollo crew surgeon Dr. Arnauld Nicogossian seemed slightly less satisfied than the previous day about the crewmen's response to treatment. Although the irritation in Slayton's lungs has been progressively clearing, the improvement in the lungs of the other two has practically stopped, Bartelloni said.

They still cough when asked to breathe deeply, he said. And although the men feel very well, "they could be feeling better than they actually are" because of the steroid drugs they are taking, he added.

Asked if he was confident of their complete recovery, Bartelloni replied: "There is nothing to lead me to believe otherwise. I am optimistic."

Both doctors agreed that the extensive precautions were not being taken just because the men are astronauts. Bartelloni said the same would be done for firemen hospitalized for smoke inhalation.

Defense motion in Little trial denied by judge

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Trial Judge Hamilton Hobgood denied a defense motion today to dismiss the first-degree murder charge against Joan Little, the black woman accused of killing a white jailer.

But Hobgood granted another motion blocking the use of her health, social service and prison records as evidence.

The rulings came as final preparations were cleared for the start of testimony in the two-week-old trial in Wake County Superior Court.

Miss Little, 21, is accused of the icepick slaying of the jailer at Washington, N.C., last August.

In another ruling, Hobgood denied a defense bid for Miss Little to serve as her own counsel — a move that would have blocked the prosecution's access to her on the witness stand.

The prosecution, meanwhile, was expected to begin presenting its evidence later in the day.

Solicitor William Griffin has said he has found no eye-witnesses to the alleged murder of Beaufort County jailer Clarence Alligood. He was expected to attempt to build his case with circumstantial evidence.

Pre-trial activities have given some indication of Griffin's efforts to prove that the 21-year-old Miss Little, a black, plotted an escape attempt and lured the white jailer into her cell, where she stabbed him with an icepick.

He will use character witnesses, telephone records, and other data in an effort to disprove Miss Little's story.

She has maintained that she acted in self defense. She said Alligood entered her cell with the icepick and tried to rape her.

Alligood's body was found Aug. 27, his pants around his ankles. He had been stabbed 11 times with the icepick.

Miss Little was gone from the jail. She turned herself in eight days later.

One key factor in the case may be a recent U.S. Court ruling that the defense contends places the burden on the prosecution to prove that Miss Little did not act in self defense.

The first two weeks of the trial were largely consumed in selection of the jury of seven whites and five blacks. Most of the white jurors are young. The only older persons are black.

Sterling firm hired by council

The Dixon City Council, at the special meeting at City Hall this morning, passed a resolution naming the Sterling law firm of Ward, Castendyck, Murray and Pace, as legal counsel for the city.

The move was made to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Tomas Magdich as city attorney, effective Aug. 1. The law firm has indicated Bob Branson, who lives in Dixon, will handle most of the legal work for the city.

The resolution stated the law firm will get $750 per month, or $9,000 per year for the job. Magdich's salary as city attorney was $8,200 yearly.

Motorcyclist killed; investigation continues

A Sunday-afternoon accident on North Galena Avenue claimed the life of an Oregon man, believed killed instantly when his motorcycle was struck by several cars. Dead is Allen Eich, 25.

The office of the Lee County state's attorney and Dixon Police are continuing their investigation. State's Atty. Patrick E. Ward today asked for assistance from anyone who witnessed the accident or arrived on the scene prior to police. The accident occurred at 4:53 p.m. in the 100 block of Galena Avenue.

When police arrived, the body was found lying on the east side of the roadway. However, authorities believe someone may have moved the body prior to their arrival.

The victim's Kawasaki motorcycle was struck by an auto driven by John Blackburn, 18, 629 Douglas Ave. Other autos involved in the accident were driven by Carol O'Rourke, 24, 419 Prospect St., and Thomas L. Russell, 71, 2103 Dodge St. Other details surrounding the accident remained under investigation, according to Ward.

Blackburn was taken to KSB Hospital, where he was treated for injuries and released. Eich was pronounced dead on arrival.

Anyone having further information was asked to contact the state's attorney's office.

Eich was born Dec. 27, 1949, at Rochelle, the son of Ernest J. and Dorothy (Dean) Eich, and had been employed as a machinist for the Etnyre Manufacturing Co., Oregon. He was a veteran of the Vietnam war and had been stationed with the Army in Germany.

Survivors include his parents, Ashton; and one sister, Miss Cheryl Eich, Rochelle.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. in First United Methodist Church, Ashton, with the Rev. David Frain, pastor of Ashton United Methodist Church, and the Rev. Merle Hall, pastor of Dixon United Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Ashton Cemetery where full military rites will be conducted at graveside. Visitation will be Tuesday from 4 to 6 and 7 to 9 p.m. at Cluts Funeral Home, Ashton.

Reward

Abraham, about 2000 years before Christ, said the pagan gods the people worshipped did not exist. There was only one God and that men were free, that God does not control men, that men are free and can do good or evil, but God makes the final judgment.

Human destiny is made by the individual. Each person is responsible for what his world is.

Saracens, living around the Mediterranean for 800 years in freedom, built hospitals, libraries, beautiful homes, in a prosperous situation. Business boomed, there was plenty of work and food because people were free. They made their own laws and obeyed them.

All men are free, but few know what freedom is or how one conducts himself. Freedom is doing whatever you desire, providing you do not harm anyone else. To be free, people must have self-discipline . . . be self-supporting. No man can control another. If the government is responsible for our welfare, then we have lost our freedom.

Human energy is what creates, produces and furnishes the people of the world with food, homes, clothing, all the things we want. Human energy is stifled when the government passes laws that prohibit men from producing freely.

What is man's earthly purpose in this world? We were put here to live a good life, according to God's requirements. If we do not pass the final examination perhaps we are committed to reincarnation. This gives us another chance to conduct ourselves in a good or bad manner. In other words, freedom to choose for ourself.

Some authors describe Heaven or Hell, but perhaps Hell is just being reborn and passing through another life.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Econ-omists have discovered that govern-ment regulation of one industry, once considered a relatively simple, straightforward problem, creates distortions which spread through the economy in ways no one is able to foresee.

These distortions may do far more damage than any immediate good achieved by the original regula-tions.

Edwin M. Zimmerman, of the law firm of Covington and Burling, sees a growing belief that "even a well-motivated regulating agency will inevitably pursue policies inconsistent with consumer welfare."

The problem is that much of the regulating is based on theory untested by either experiment or experi-ence. Both conservative and liberal scholars are learning that regulation in all too many cases does not achieve the ends of which it was de-signed. It comes to have a life of its own.

Worse yet, according to Pennsylv-ania University's Almarin Phillips, "the typical response of regulatory agencies to failure in regulation is to extend and compound their own reg-ulations. Thus criticism . . . may have the effect of making regulation still more perverse."

There is now therefore a tenden-cy among one body of theorists, not all of them conservatives by any means, to turn back to once-discard-ed principles. For one, a number of recent scholarly studies promote competition as a more efficient de-vice for regulating prices and for in-creasing service to the public in many cases than governmental regulatory agencies.

The concept is not new, of course. It's the traditional economic mode in this country, nibbled away bit and piece these past 50 years.

One rather startling example of the new "radicalism"—or return to competition—will suffice.

For decades it has been assumed electric utilities are natural mo-nopolies which should be guided by the strictest of regulations, with rates, profits and operating condi-tions determined by government agencies.

This was necessary, it was held, to protect the public, prevent expen-sive duplication, provide better ser-vice at lower rates.

Now comes Walter J. Peimeaux Jr. of the University of Illinois, working in cooperation with the prestigious Brookings Institution. The ideas are his, not necessarily Brookings.

As Almarin Phillips puts it, "us-ing a set of largely ignored data from communities where consumers have a choice between two suppli-ers, Peimeaux compares costs per kilowatt hour in cities where there is competition with rates of similar companies where . . . electric power is a monopoly," frequently a city-owned monopoly.

His results suggest that competi-tion could provide cheaper rates and better service in upward of 3,200 of this nation's 3,600 electric power utility systems, more than half of which are publicly owned. Though in kilowatt hours this would affect little of the nation's power, it would bene-fit many consumers, make possible cutbacks in the work of the nation's electric power regulators, freeing this industry to explore innovations and new technology at a faster pace.

Studies of a variety of other in-dustries likewise suggest that in the real world competition may have a great deal more going for it than many economists, consumer advo-cates and lawmakers have been willing to admit

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

Brave, back-to-the-wall little Is-rael traps American Jewry in a poignant agony.

There are only 14½ million Jews in the entire world. And the world's Jewish population is predominantly in America. About six million of the 14½ million live in the United States. Yet their number here is likewise astoundingly small; Jews represent less than three per cent of our popu-lation.

A full 64 per cent live in northeast America; less than 11 per cent live in the South. There are 535,000 Jews in Los Angeles, the second largest concentration; 325,000 in Philadel-phia; 270,000 in Chicago; 200,000 in Miami; 180,000 in Boston; 113,000 in Washington, D.C., etc.

But the overwhelming majority of Jews live in New York City and environs: 4.2 million. This is about 70 per cent of all the Jews in Amer-ica.

Jews make up by far New York city's largest voting bloc—nearly one-third of the entire election-day turnout. And the Jewish vote is trem-endously Democratic: 75 per cent to 25 per cent.

Republicans Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Jacob K. Javits have run this 25 per cent up to a usual 35 per cent in statewide elections. And in presidential campaigns, Richard M. Nixon took about 20 per cent of the national Jewish vote in 1960 and 15 per cent against Hubert H. Hum-phrey in 1968.

And when New York Mayor John V. Lindsay disastrously collapsed in the 1972 Florida primary, laden with Miami's Jewish votes, he moaned: "Unless there is a rapprochment with the Jews, we've had it."

In turn, 1972 Democratic presi-dential candidate George McGovern offered the vice presidential nomi-nation to Jewish leader Sen. Abra-ham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut. Ribicoff refused that offer two or three times before Sargent Shriver snapped it up.

The Jewish vote not only involves New York State's 41 Electoral Col-lege votes but can also make a deci-sive difference in California, Flor-ida, Illinois, New Jersey, Ohio and Pennsylvania. Traditionally, these are "battleground states."

Moreover, the Jews make it a habit to turn out at the polls. And every vote can be two votes. It usu-ally means a reduction in the vote for the Republican candidate.

In addition, support of Israel is not a "switcher" issue; the Jewish vote is all but unanimous. The prob-lem is to harness it. That is the func-tion of the American Israel Public Affairs Committee, the operative core of the pro-Israel lobby in Wash-ington.

Its board of directors consists of all the chairmen of the Conference of Presidents of Major American Jew-ish Organizations. This is the um-brella group that represents nearly the entire Jewish community in the United States.

In total, the American Israel Public Affairs Committee acts as the driving force for about 30 Jewish groups and makes it its business to maintain AIPAC lines to every im-portant member of both the House and the Senate.

The AIPAC arranges to introduce legislation helpful to Israel. It keeps a docket of all legislation pending in the House and Senate that is impor-tant to Israel.

When such legislation comes up the AIPAC alerts about 1,000 Jewish leaders throughout the United States. They, in turn, alert their own network of friends, important con-tributors, etc., and especially those willing to write letters to the news-papers. Usually the next step is to report back to the AIPAC in Wash-ington.

For example, when the House Appropriations Committee and For-eign Affairs Committee both cut $500 million from the $2.2 billion Amer-ican aid to Israel bill, the AIPAC sent nearly 100 telegrams to the committee's members. The $500 million was restored. And similarly the AIPAC was the force behind the letter 70 Senators wrote President Ford demanding aid for Israel.

The Jewish peoples' memories of nine centuries in exile, their wan-derings, their ghastly persecutions from the earliest dawns through Hit-ler's holocaust, create a banding-to-gether, an intense sense of Jewish destiny and a concentration on the concept that Jewish unity is vital to Jews.

Admittedly, Israel could not exist without the support of American Jewry. Hence the incredibly power-ful AIPAC.

Jewish vote important in U.S. elections

Private colleges looking up

Parents of college-bound youths face a 10 per cent climb in tuition this fall. Even so, early indications are that the nation's private institu-tions of higher learning will not be lacking for students.

A recently completed survey of 607 independent colleges and univer-sities shows that enrollment appli-cations are ahead of last year for 55 per cent of the schools; another 17 per cent are at least even.

The figures were released by the National Council of Independent Colleges and Universities, an affil-iate of the Washington-based Asso-ciation of American Colleges (AAC).

The figures are a continuation of last fall's uptrend, which saw both the private and public sectors shar-ing a record 10-million enrollment. This year, however, the increase may not be shared by the public in-stitutions. As many as 200,000 va-cancies are predicted for fall by the American Association of State Col-leges and Universities.

The increasing interest in inde-pendent colleges is occurring even though the average cost of atten-dance this fall, including tuition, room, board, books, transportation and personal expenses, will reach $4,391.

Such cost, together with current economic conditions, could be ex-pected to channel more young peo-ple into public universities and voca-tional training, but this apparently won't be the case.

Commenting on the survey re-sults, AAC president Dr. Frederick Ness cited a number of factors re-sponsible. One is the growing num-ber of states offering programs of some kind to offset the tuition gap between independent and state insti-tutions, thus enabling students to have more freedom of choice. States having student grant programs have risen to 40, which represents a dou-bling during the past eight years.

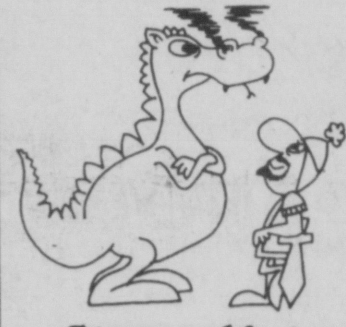

Ness also credits federal pro-grams of student aid with "making possible a financial package of state and federal assistance which, to-gether with aid offered by the schools themselves, keeps the doors of independent colleges open to dis-advantaged and middle-income stu-dents."

Also, the schools are tailoring programs to attract and accommo-date new constituencies, such as housewives and working adults. Part-time enrollment and weekend classwork is now commonplace. Ac-cording to the U.S. Office of Educa-tion, adults now account for nearly 50 per cent of the nation's total col-lege enrollment.

In sum, fears that the nation's private schools were in danger of go-ing under from the blows of reces-sion and rising costs appear to have been unfounded. Instead, they seem to be thriving.

Things Dixon Talked About

10 YEARS AGO

Lee County and all of Illinois will soon be drafting twice as many men as they have in recent months, and 19-year-olds will be called into service for the first time since the Korean War.

The mayor has asked that some Dixon streets be renamed to avoid confusion. For in-stance, he said, Eustace Drive becomes Fellows Street, then becomes Lincolnway, and fi-nally ends up as Palmyra Ave-nue. There is also a Forest Ave-nue, North Forest Drive, Forest Drive, and South Forest Drive, all within four blocks.

50 YEARS AGO
Good weather to have your hair bobbed. Go to the Taylor Beauty Parlor if you want an up-to-date shingle bob.

Dixon's Kiwanis Club decided at its meeting yesterday to work with the city park com-mission to promote use of Is-land Park, and perhaps to schedule a band concert there. A moment of silence was called for in memory of William Jen-nings Bryan, who died Sunday in Dayton, Ohio. A member of the Dixon Theatre orchestra then entertained the club with two selections.

The Doctor Says:

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — You often mention the necessity for adults to drink the equivalent of a quart of milk a day. Please tell me how cottage cheese and cheddar cheese compare in terms of ounces to milk for nutritional value. Also, can calcium pills serve the same purpose?

DEAR READER — That remark is in reference to the calcium content of milk. A quart of whole milk contains about a gram of calcium. Fortified low fat and fortified skim milk contain even more calcium. I think most adults need at least a gram of calcium a day.

You can use an equivalent amount of buttermilk or yogurt to get the calcium. A quart of milk is about two pounds. Remember the old adage, "a pint's a pound the world around." In general a pound of cheese; creamed or uncreamed cottage cheese, cheddar cheese, Swiss cheese or American cheese, contains about the same amount of calcium as a pound (pint) of milk.

Since there are many studies suggesting that too much saturated fat can increase your cholesterol and lead to heart disease, it is wise to use fortified skim milk (has more calcium and protein anyway than whole milk), buttermilk or uncreamed cottage cheese. Cheddar, American and similar cheese are very high in fat and consequently loaded with calories. About half of the fat is saturated fat, so it is not a good choice for a source of calcium if you want to restrict your calories, your fat intake or your saturated fat intake.

Another good source of calcium is canned salmon. A seven-ounce can of salmon, solids and liquids, contains about a half gram of calcium (half of your daily needs). You should eat the bones in the salmon as canned. Sardines with bones contain almost twice as much calcium per ounce. A three-and-a-half-ounce serving will meet about half of the daily one gram recommendation.

Mature bean seeds are a fairly good source. One cup cooked and drained (about 7 ounces) contains nearly a tenth of a gram of calcium.

You don't need to drink all your milk to benefit from its calcium value. You can use milk in food preparation. Milk gravy, puddings and even the milk in bread all count toward meeting the daily calcium needs. And, if you use the non-fat dry milk powder you can add more to the amount called for to reconstitute milk. The added milk powder will increase the calcium and protein in the prepared food without significantly increasing fat or cholesterol. Don't downgrade desserts as all bad. It depends on how they are made, and they are one vehicle that can be used for calcium and protein.

You can get your calcium from tablets. How many tablets you need depends on the type of calcium tablet used. Short of using calcium tablets, milk and milk products remain the main source of calcium for most people. Those who can't use milk for any reason are really handicapped in obtaining their daily calcium needs.

Couple exchanges vows

STERLING — First Christian Church was the setting for the recent evening ceremony that united Miss Connie A. Pansick and Edward George Sutter. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pansick and Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Sutter.

The Rev. LeRoy Hershiser conducted the nuptial service. Organist was Tim Fishback, Sterling, Sudan Sachs, Dixon, was vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of satepeau in a Victorian style. Rows of Cluny lace trimmed the V-shaped bodice and encircled the stand-up collar, waistline and cuffs of her bishop sleeves. Double rows of lace adorned the skirt, creating an apron affect. Her half bonnet of Cluny and Venice lace held a mantilla bordered with lace. The bride carried a dozen yellow roses with baby's breath intertwined.

Mrs. James Rumley, Sterling, matron of honor was attired in a gold and yellow floral print gown. She carried a nosegay of yellow roses and white daisies.

The bridesmaid was Mrs. Jeff Wetzell, Rock Falls who wore a gown identical to the matron of honor's.

Best man was Richard Roth, Fairview Heights. Groomsman was Robert Hunter, Smithton. Ushers were Richard Sutter, brother of the groom and John Rowher Jr., Dixon.

A reception given in honor of the couple followed in the church parlor. A white three tiered cake decorated with yellow roses was cut by Judy Sutter, sister-in-law of groom, and Mrs. Rochelle Cleaves, sister of the groom. Jeri Lundquist poured punch and Judy Whittaker poured coffee. In charge of the guest book was Colleen Boehle.

The bride is a 1970 graduate of Sterling High School and a '75 graduate of Sauk Valley College. She is currently employed by the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD G. SUTTER

The groom is a 1967 graduate of Belleville High School and a 1971 graduate of Southern Illinois university. He received a masters degree in 1972 and is presently a child care worker at the Nachusa Lutheran Home. He is also a speech instructor. Following a wedding trip to the Ozarks, the couple will reside at 1008 Lincoln Ave., Dixon.

Stuffed peppers

6 large green peppers, 1 1/4 to 2 pounds
2 pounds lean ground beef
1-pound, 12-ounce can whole tomatoes in tomato puree
1 cup cooked rice
Large onion, finely chopped (1 cup)
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Halve peppers and remove seeds and white fibers; boil in water and cover for 5 minutes; drain. Mix beef with 1/4 cup puree from the tomatoes, 1/4 cup water, rice, onion, salt and pepper; fill pepper cavities with mixture. Arrange in a 17 by 11 by 2 inch roast pan or similar utensil; pour tomatoes and their remaining puree over and around peppers. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven 45 to 60 minutes. If sauce in pan becomes too thick toward end of baking, dilute with a little water; if, after baking, sauce is thinner and blander than you like, remove peppers and keep warm, then stir part or all of a 6-ounce can of tomato paste into the sauce, season to taste, heat on range top and pour over peppers. Makes 6 hearty servings.

BLEND WITH CARE

Make-up creates optical illusion and can play down facial flaws, but the important thing to remember is to carefully blend the make-up. If you're trying to play down that double chin (while you're exercising and losing weight) use a darker shade of make-up base under the chin and carefully blend edges with the rest of the make up.

Stuffed mushrooms are family dish

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Leave it to the French to come up with a family dish that could substitute, for some, for meatloaf. This is Stuffed Mushrooms Ile de France. These are filled with a mixture of lean ground beef, pate de foie (liver pate) and biscotte crumbs (crisp, French rusk-like toast), and seasoned with herbs and spices. The sauce combines beef broth, chopped mushroom stems, a Beaujolais wine and gherkins. You can make your own bread crumbs if biscotte crumbs are not available in your specialty food store. These filled mushrooms also may be served as hors d'oeuvres.

STUFFED MUSHROOMS ILE DE FRANCE

12 large mushrooms
1 pound lean ground beef
1 can (4-oz) pate de foie
1/2 cup chopped shallots
1/2 cup fine biscotte (toast) crumbs
1 egg
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup chopped parsley
SAUCE:
1/4 cup butter
chopped mushroom stems
1/4 cup flour
1 cup condensed beef broth
1 cup French Beaujolais wine
1/4 cup chopped cornichons (tiny gherkins)
Salt and pepper to taste
Remove stems from mushroom caps. Place in a single layer in a shallow pan and bake in a preheated 350 degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes. Serve with

War on 'child snatchers'

In April, 1972, a divorced mother with custody of her two young children, 3 and 5, watched as her ex-husband left her Brooklyn, N.Y., home with the kids for his usual visitation weekend. The three never returned.

Since that time, the mother has spent $7,000 in private detective fees. She contacted the F.B.I., the Bureau of Missing Persons, the New York Police Department and Legal Aid. She and the children have become another case in the growing area known as "child-snatching."

"Child-snatching" is the act of one parent, usually divorced and not awarded custody, who takes the child from the parent with legal custody and disappears from sight.

"So far not even a small lead has been uncovered," writes this bereft mother. "I still sit with all my memories around me. I see empty beds at night, toys not played with and my heart cries out. Perhaps, by some ill-will, they are dead."

In 1974, in Covina, Calif., an ex-husband took his 5-year-old son and 2-year-old daughter for a weekend excursion. After they failed to return on Monday, the mother notified the police. A short time later, authorities informed her that the children were with their father, in South America. To date, the mother has spent $12,000 trying to recover the children who are legally hers.

"The most amazing instrument of human conduct ever devised by man—the Constitution of the United States—is failing to protect me and my children," she says.

All over this country, divorced fathers and mothers who have legally been granted custody of their children, are losing those children to embittered, ex-spouses who take custody of their children through "child-snatching"—an act, at present, which is not even illegal.

The federal law on kidnapping, written in 1934, specifically excludes the taking of a minor child by his or her parent as a violation of law.

Arnold I. Miller, a computer programmer in Washington, D.C., whose wife disappeared with his only son a year ago, has organized a group called "Children's Rights, Inc." to lobby for legislation designed to plug this loophole in the law.

But even though legislation has been introduced to rectify this omission, the Subcommittee on Crime, headed by Rep. John R. Conyers Jr. (D-Mich.) has so far failed to hold hearings on the matter.

But the soft-spoken, thoughtful Miller isn't just lobbying for a change in the law. His organization is acting as a clearing house for parents across the country who have been victimized by child-snatching spouses. "We are gathering cases and getting information," says Miller. This fall, Miller hopes to publish a pamphlet which would give a state-by-state rundown on what parents can legally do when their children have been taken from them.

Some California legislators are interested in this problem, says Miller, but most states, just like the federal government, have ignored the problem thus far. Miller sees child-snatching as just one of a number of areas where children are not protected by society. He intends to use his organization as a force to protect and advance children's rights.

Bridge winners are announced

Dixon Country Club's Thursday night dinner and bridge group winners this week were: Mrs. Ed McClennan, first place, Mrs. O. K. Welty, second and Mrs. Don Sprecher, third place winner.

Winners in the men's group were: Mr. O. K. Welty, first, Dr. Wilbur Stitzel, second place and Dr. Robert LeSage Sr., third.

Hosts for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Slothower. The next bridge meeting is set for August 14. Hosts will be Mr. and Mrs. Don Sprecher.

Dear Ann by Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Every now and then, a woman writes to complain about her husband bringing home unexpected dinner guests. Usually it's a guy from out of town who just happened to be in his office.

My next-door neighbor read a book recently that gave the perfect solution. It suggested that women who want to pump excitement into a lackluster marriage should greet their husbands at the door wearing nothing but high heels and a string of beads. Or they might wrap themselves in plastic sheeting and tie a large red satin ribbon around "the package."

Any wife who pulls one of these stunts will never again have the problem of an unexpected dinner guest. Sign me—Positive

Dear Pos: A unique solution, to say the least. Did the book by any chance mention what to do with the children when Mummy does her burlesque numbers?

Dear Ann Landers: I have been putting off writing this letter since November, but after taking one downer, eight aspirins, two uppers and three shot glasses of Scotch whiskey, I decided to go the Ann Landers route.

Last year my best friend convinced me I should stop fooling around with drugs. I did. Four times. But now I'm at it again. For a while I was able to stay off the pills and stick strictly to booze mixed with orange juice. It worked for a while, then I showed up drunk in school one Monday morning, was expelled, and I learned my lesson.

I've tried to kill myself three times. Actually, I don't think I really wanted to die because I never took enough pills to kill me. I think maybe I just wanted attention.

There have been times when my friends convinced me that I don't need any of this junk. But after four or five days of being straight, I'm back—heavy as ever, or worse.

I don't know why I do it. One reason might be because I hate my parents. Another is that I hate myself. I hate my hair. It is falling out and the only answer is a hairpiece—which I despise—or a transplant job, and that's too expensive. Can you help me?—At 14 Messed Up

Dear 14: A boy of 14 with your history needs more than advice from Ann Landers. You are a very sick young man. If losing your hair is part of your psychological problem, perhaps you should have a transplant. It might even be considered "therapy" and therefore covered by insurance.

I urge you to contact your local Mental Health Center. They are staffed with counselors waiting to help kids like you. But you must let them know you want help. Get moving, and good luck, Son.

Dear Ann: I'm engaged to a fine guy who has a hot temper. He has a habit of hitting or kicking things when he gets angry.

Last week when his baseball team lost, he socked the wall of the stadium and sprained his wrist. Today a motorist cut him off and he knocked his knee on the dashboard and it bled.

What's his problem? Any advice?—Love Him

Dear Love: That "fine guy" is grossly immature. He handles frustration like a 10-year-old. My advice to him is to get some counseling and learn how to handle anger. My advice to you is stay out of his way until he grows up.

Shower given

OHIO — Miss Laurel Marine, a bride-to-be August 2, was honored recently at an evening bridal shower in the First Lutheran Church.

Readings were done by Mrs. Ralph Fischer and Mrs. Ken Esterday. A grocery pricing game was led by Mrs. Dick Meyer and won by Mrs. Myron Mollin.

The guest of honor opened gifts from the 60 guests with assistance from Sandy Mollin and Shelly Schrader.

Party decorations were in green and pink with garden bouquets as centerpieces for tables. Mothers of the couple, Mrs. Everett Ackerman and Mrs. Harry Akers, poured.

Hostesses included: Mrs. Harry Mollin and daughter Sandy, Mrs. Ken Esterday and daughter Karen, Mrs. Harold Ackerman, Mrs. Les Ober-schelp, Mrs. Ralph Fischer, Mrs. Ivan Ioder, Mrs. Dick Meyer and Mrs. John Ackerman.

A June bridal party was given for classmates and friends with Mrs. Lyle Schrader and daughter Shelly, Walnut, hostesses.

Mrs. Roy Yarrington, Princeton, entertained 12 friends to honor Laurel at her home July 15.

Slam bidding with Blackwood

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Jim: "How about some articles on the Blackwood convention?"

Oswald: "In its original and simplest form as invented by Easley Blackwood over 40 years ago, it provides that a bid of four notrump demands that partner respond to show aces. Five clubs shows none, five diamonds one, five hearts two, five spades three and five notrump all four."

Jim: "In the last 20 years the five-club response shows zero or four aces and five notrump is not used. It is assumed that a player can tell whether his partner holds four or none."

Oswald: "North has a perfect Blackwood response to South's spade opening. He plans to bid seven if South shows three aces, six if he shows two and five if he shows one."

Jim: "Suppose he shows no aces?"

Oswald: "North should get a new partner. South is obviously bad luck for him."

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE E-625: Mercer A., aged 37, is a Welfare Director.

"Dr. Crane," he protested, "I resent a former column of yours in which a grocer cast aspersions on food stamp recipients."

"You said they can't read. And used their food stamps to buy watermelons out of season."

"Well, Dr. Crane, don't you realize many people in our society are too old or feeble to earn a living?"

"Or they are physically disabled or even feeble-minded?"

"So why shouldn't they buy watermelons like other people?"

"Don't they enjoy them as much as that griping wealthy grocer or bigoted newspaper columnists?"

Either-Or Fallacy
Many bureaucrats relish throwing the "Either-Or" 2-horned dilemma at their critics.

They use propaganda on you hard working taxpayers by indicating you must "either" O.K. their taking your forced taxes "or" else you are sadistic butts.

Actually, I never said the food stamp recipients can't read!

And even that harassed grocer merely stated that "many of them can't read or add and subtract," which is all too true!

Furthermore, it is axiomatic that many Americans are in need of food or even medical aid.

But those who oppose coerced extraction of taxes via IRS for welfare bureaucrats grandiosely to dole out via food stamps and ADC (Aid to Dependent Children) are NOT sadistic monsters!

For charity, by definition, cannot be coerced or involuntary!

Only "voluntary" gifts can be called generous, as Adam Smith wisely explained some 200 years ago!

Churches and the Salvation Army, plus the Red Cross and various fraternal orders, formerly handled charity cases.

And without the heavy overhead of an army of salaried welfare bureaucrats on the backs of coerced taxpayers!

Uncle Sam should thus quit competing with voluntary charitable organizations.

For use of coerced taxes is NOT an evidence of generosity at all but is a form of boondoggling to buy votes on election day!

Secondly, it is high time high school and college debaters examined the Declaration of Independence, for Uncle Sam is not obligated to feed, clothe and medicate ANYBODY!

Welfare bureaucrats, however, glibly accept the fallacious idea that every American is entitled to happiness!

That's a malarky! And unAmerican!

For that famous Declaration of Independence simply states that we are all "endowed by our Creator with certain unalienable rights, to wit, life, liberty and the PURSUIT of happiness."

I have capitalized that word "pursuit" for there is a whale of a difference between the chance to work hard, employ elbow grease and midnight study in our "pursuit" of happiness, vs. happiness itself!

You debaters might also read your Bibles more closely, where you will find that Christ healed but a few people, though probably 25,000 were dying of cancer, leprosy and other fatal ailments all around Him.

Jesus also could have turned stones into bread and erased all hunger, but He apparently let maybe another 25,000 die of starvation within sight of Him or the sound of His voice. Why?

Read Luke 4:23-27, where He cites the precedent of Elijah and Elisha to justify His belief in selective, voluntary charity, not indiscriminated nor coerced welfare!

RR track should be consolidated into one system

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly one-third of the track owned by seven financially ailing Northeastern railroads should be sold, subsidized or abandoned and the remaining track consolidated into one system, the U.S. Railway Association will recommend Monday.

Sources said the association's final plan for maintaining rail service in the 17 northeastern and midwestern states served by the ailing carriers calls for creation of a 15,000-mile streamlined rail system stretching from the East Coast to the Mississippi River.

The plan recommends that 5,700 miles of little-used track either be abandoned or operations over those lines be subsidized by a combination of federal and state aid.

Congress will have 60 working days to approve the proposal. If it rejects the plan, the railway association, the Department of Transportation and the Rail Services Planning Office of the Interstate Commerce Commission will be ordered to confer and make necessary changes.

Congress then will have an additional 60 working days to approve or disapprove the modified plan.

Although the reorganization will affect 17 states directly, the entire nation will be affected indirectly. Those northeastern and midwestern states contain 55 per cent of the country's manufacturing plants, and many of these products are shipped by rail. In addition, the region is a major producer of coal and grain and a major manufacturer of steel.

The railroads involved are the Penn Central, the Erie Lackawanna, the Reading, the Central of New Jersey, the Lehigh Valley, the Lehigh and Hudson River and the Ann Arbor.

The massive Penn Central will form the backbone of the new system, to be called Con-Rail.

The Man Behind The Badge...

Get to know the man behind the badge in your neighborhood and you'll probably find that he's a lot like you. He's a husband, a father, a taxpayer and a fellow human being who shares most of your concerns, dreams and ambitions. He's also a man with a tough job. He's a cop. He's working for all of us. Protecting us and our loved ones. Protecting our property and enforcing our laws and helping to assure us of living in a safe neighborhood, a wholesome and strong community we can be proud of. But to be truly effective, he needs our help. Our cooperation and our friendship.

In years past, police walked their "beats" got to know their fellow citizens, and in many cases, built lasting and important friendships. Times changed and the world of computers and high-speed radio patrol cars interrupted the direct personal contact we had with our police officers. But times are changing again. All across the nation, policemen are beginning to get back into the community. People are responding. A friendly cooperation is developing, lowering crime and building better and safer neighborhoods. People are learning about the man behind the badge and finding that he is truly one of us.

DOING WHAT COMES NATURALLY It may be for most people, but walking is quite a feat for young Anthony Johnson of Newton, N.C. Anthony was born with severely twisted legs which were amputated when he was 18 months old to save him from a life in a wheelchair. Later fitted with artificial legs, he learned to walk step by hesitant step with the love and determined assistance of his parents. Now on his second set of legs, Anthony, Newton's March of Dimes poster child, rides a tricycle, runs and plays like any other 4-year-old.

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the FBI's best-kept secrets is its telephone directory.

Hardly anyone outside the FBI has one and not even the attorney general has one, although his aides say he doesn't really need it.

Reporters and other private citizens cannot get one, not even by petitioning for it under the Freedom of Information Act which is supposed to, and sometimes does, open all sorts of government files to public view.

This reporter tried that route but only gained one page of the directory after Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi overruled the FBI. That page lists the numbers for FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley's office and for the offices of 10 of the 13 FBI divisions. The phone numbers for Kelley and all 13 divisions long have been listed in the Justice Department directory which is routinely provided to reporters.

The page that Levi released also includes the numbers for the FBI gymnasium, the guard captain, and the cafeteria. A reporter might cover the FBI for 30 years and never need those numbers.

Reporters who occasionally have glimpsed one of the secret directories believe it contains an alphabetical list of the thousands of headquarters employees, their division assignment, room numbers and telephone numbers.

Levi and Kelley argued that a reporter doesn't need a phone book because the main switchboard operator will put through calls to any FBI employee. That sometimes works and sometimes doesn't.

This exercise began last Feb. 21, in an effort to obtain a necessary tool of reporting. On March 14, Kelley denied the request, citing the sections of the FOI Act exempting certain internal records and personnel files from public disclosure. And he wrote in a letter:

"I am aware that the information you requested would be vital to certain foreign intelligence services intent upon disrupting or otherwise thwarting our activities. I am therefore concerned that public disclosure of this information could impede our ability to carry out our investigative responsibilities."

Besides, he said, reporters already have the names and telephone numbers for the agents designated to respond to press inquiries. The spokesman deliver only the agency's official response and they often don't have the requested data or take hours or days to provide it.

Kelley's decision was appealed to Levi who replied on July 17, "I have decided to affirm the action of Director Kelley in this case with a single modification" — the page he ordered released.

"Failure to have access to this directory affects the public not at all," Levi wrote. He said the FBI switchboard will connect any caller with the individual he requests or with "the appropriate office to deal with the caller's problem."

The attorney general said he was acting to protect the privacy of FBI employees.

After the first armed clashes of the Revolution, the patriots made one more attempt to settle their grievances with Great Britain by means short of war. The Olive Branch Petition written by John Dickinson, was adopted on July 5, 1775 by the delegates of the Continental Congress and carried to London by Loyalist Richard Penn. The petition reiterated the grievances of the colonists but professed their attachment to the King, expressed the desire for a restoration of harmony and begged the King to prevent further hostile action until a reconciliation could be worked out. Penn reached London on Aug. 14. On Nov. 9 the Congress learned that George III had refused to see him or receive the petition. The World Almanac recalls.

'Almost Anything Goes' should be what does

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — It has been written that in the event of a missile attack, we'll have only a few minutes' warning. We should like to give you far more advance warning about a bomb ABC will drop on us Thursday.

The device bears the title of "Almost Anything Goes." It's an hour-long, five-week summer series. It has small-town teams participating in zany athletic contests in the spirit of the old potato sack races.

We got an advance look at it last week. We fled after a half-hour, pledging to make a serious attempt at reading "War and Peace," a project we undertake each summer when TV viewing reaches the dregs.

We always fail on account of drink or laziness. But, by neddie, after watching half of "Almost Anything Goes," we're going to read "War and Peace" on Thursday nights for the next five weeks.

The ABC show is that bad. It's a numbing example of what happens when people having fun doing silly sports are covered by sportscasters who are All Business about their chosen calling.

We refer to Charlie Jones and Lynn Shackelford, ABC's reporting team. Their coverage of the just-for-laugh proceedings is as intense and cliché-filled as that normally given pro basketball.

Thursday's show, taped at Murphy Park in Putnam, Conn., has teams from Putnam, Webster, Mass., and Burrillville, R.I., battling for the series' "Eastern Regional Championships."

It starts with the blare of a high school marching band and Shackelford's solemn report that the teams' home towns are in a 15-mile radius of each other, "which means there may be no home field advantage."

Team members are solemnly introduced, their ages and backgrounds solemnly recited. Then three referees in striped shirts are gravely presented. Then the first event light-heartedly commences.

A young man and woman plunge into a pool, climb on a bobbing raft and try to don formal evening wear in 90 seconds. Jones gives a play-by-play recital that is mind-boggling. He is totally serious.

A second set of contestants later jumps in the pool. Jones carefully notes because they are in their 30s they might have more experience in dressing formally "and perhaps their age will be a factor."

To the library now for a copy of "War and Peace." True, it'd be easier to loaf or watch Channel 21's "Hello, Long Island" for the next five Thursday nights. But we made a pledge. Besides, our set can't get Channel 21.

Sheep to Shawl

Authenticity is imperative at Van Cortlandt Manor at Croton-on-Hudson, N.Y., where the Handweavers Guild of Westchester charms tourists with its 18th century techniques in dyeing and spinning wool. At left, a shearer sweeps across a sheep in one stroke to begin the ancient process as onlookers crowd around. At right, a "nekid" sheep, victim of the shearer, grazes while his brother is shorn before the audience. From a steaming cauldron of onion-skin dye (far right), a woman garbed in 18th century dress lifts raw wool before it is dried, woven and spun. Willing volunteer feeds carded wool into the spinning wheel (below) to produce woolen yarn as he pumps the treadle a la the 1700s. Two eager youths watch a weaver (right) operate the 18th century loom which thins and refines the coarse wool yarn before it is knitted, the final phase of the "Sheep to Shawl" re-creation.

Walker education cuts get teacher criticism

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Daniel Walker's recent cuts in state aid for school districts have drawn fire from President Robert Healey of the Illinois Federation of Teachers.

Healey said Friday that members of his union will not stand for the cuts. He said he could not predict what the teachers might do but that he is sure "they will not bear the burden of the financially troubled school systems."

Healey predicted that more than 1,700 teachers in Chicago alone will be laid off as a result of Walker's action.

Walker recently slashed $140 million from the total elementary and secondary education budget and $51.9 million from the higher education appropriation approved by the General Assembly.

"These cuts have returned us to chaotic times of school closings and teacher strikes so prevalent before the new school aid formula went into effect three years ago," Healey said.

He suggested that one alternative the union might back would be operating at full strength until available funds run out and then closing the schools.

Healey's remarks came during a Senate Education Committee hearing on Walker's cuts. Committee chairman Sen. Ben E. Palmer, D-Chicago, said the hearing will be continued, possibly in Springfield.

Healey urged the committee to "take the lead" in the fight to restore some of the lost funds through legislative action such as veto overrides and deficiency appropriations.

Earlier, Asst. State Supt. of Public Instruction Donald F. Eslick testified that local revenues available to school districts may decrease during the 1975-76 school year for the first time since the Great Depression. He based his prediction on Walker's veto of a Senate bill which would have released local funds to school districts at no cost to the state, and the decrease in growth of school property tax extensions and collections in Cook County.

Testimony also was heard from representatives of the Chicago, Oak Park and Evanston school systems. All echoed sentiments of being forced to operate at larger deficits because of the governor's action.

Dr. No-No's helpful hints on how to save natural gas & money:

"(Sniff.) Ummmm. A yum-yum, friends. But a no-no. Uncovered cookware and full burner settings waste heat. Keep the lid on to save gas and money. And a lower flame may improve your cooking."

A medium flame is better for most cooking on surface burners. More important, it takes less gas. And pot covers keep the heat in and cook foods faster. So cover up and help yourself to some savings. In gas for the future, and money for today.

"Saving gas helps put meat on the table,

Environmental backwash feared in off-shore oil

First in a Series
By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Oil companies and the Ford administration claim that new and massive drilling on the ocean floor may be just the ticket to reduce America's dependence on imports. So why not take that plunge?

According to a burgeoning number of environmentalists and coastal state leaders, there are reasons aplenty. While few deny at least the possibility of an energy bonanza beneath off-shore waters, many fear that any rush to capture it would trigger an environmental — and possibly economic — backwash of disastrous proportions. "What's an oil company care about Cape May County?" asks New Jersey Gov. Brendan T. Byrne. "Once they've got a lease and they've got oil out there, what do they care?" Massachusetts Gov. Michael S. Dukakis agrees. "I don't think anybody really trusts them," he said of the petroleum industry.

Right or wrong, such suspicions, aimed both at Big Oil and the Interior Department, were heard repeatedly in interviews with local leaders, environmentalists and others as the department hurried to lease huge undersea beds never before drilled.

The 17 offshore basins which may hold oil and natural gas cover some 180 million under-water acres, more than the total area of Rhode Island, Delaware, Connecticut, Hawaii, New Jersey, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, Maryland, West Virginia, South Carolina, Maine, Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio.

Their undiscovered oil and gas may equal the nation's entire 116 years of past production, worth perhaps $340 billion at current prices — and it's public property; every taxpayer has a stake in it.

Shell Oil Corp. estimates that tapping offshore petroleum can limit imports to 36 per cent of U.S. oil consumption; without it, imports would approach 50 per cent within 15 years. Current imports total about 38 per cent of U.S. consumption. But offshore production also threatens to bring oil spills and industrial blight, and many coastal states are demanding more information, more control, more money, more time to prepare.

The Interior Department, on the other hand, is not waiting to sort out these demands.

The department wants to auction 1.6 million acres in new areas off Southern California this October; California is suing.

Interior also plans to auction

1.8 million acres in the unexplored Gulf of Alaska this December; Gov. Jay Hammond is pressing Congress to block the sale.

The first East Coast leasing, off Middle Atlantic states, was tentatively scheduled at 2.6 million acres for May 1976; two counties and five towns on Long Island, N.Y., have sued to prevent it.

Opposition also runs strong in New England, faced with an August 1976 leasing of about 1.3 million acres on Georges Bank, one of the world's richest fishing areas.

Only two coastal areas — the Southeast, due for an undetermined amount of leasing in October 1976, and the Gulf of Mexico, accustomed to offshore petroleum since 1954 — seem at all satisfied.

"Unleash the oil companies and let them go to work and start drilling," urged South Carolina's Gov. James B. Edwards.

"The criticism has been justified in the past," said Edwards, "but I think the modern-day industries are more sensitive to human needs, to the desires of the environmentalists."

"I think they can be profit-oriented and people-oriented all at the same time."

New Jersey Gov. Byrne declared that turning the oil companies loose offshore "is trusting the free enterprise system on a set of standards I can't accept."

"I think their standards are to get the oil, to make a profit on it, and have whatever concern for the environment is consistent with the free enterprise system."

"The standards have got to be a little more carefully drawn in that regard."

In Maine, Ronald Poitras, director of coastal planning, said, "They've gotten a more intensive public relations campaign to make it look like they're more responsible, but frankly I don't think they are."

"I think the size and the incredible power of these large oil companies make them suspect from the beginning ... They're bigger than state governments."

Long Island's suit against Atlantic leasing contended it would only increase the power of major oil companies which "function as a cartel in setting prices, protecting profits and minimizing competition from independents."

Such charges are discounted by officials in Louisiana, an oil state since 1902. "We think it's competitive as hell," said Commissioner of Conservation Ray Sutton.

The Interior Department, as manager of the offshore leases, has proposed to ban joint bidding by major companies as a move to give smaller companies a better chance at winning or sharing leases.

But the Long Island suit charged that Interior itself was dominated by the oil industry and should not be allowed to regulate the same offshore development it is trying so hard to promote.

Alaska Gov. Hammond said the leasing of "frontier areas" was a foregone conclusion, adding that Interior even ignored the recommendations of the President's Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ).

Early last year, CEQ rated the environmental risks of oil development in the three Atlantic areas and the Gulf of Alaska.

Meanwhile, oil companies listed for Interior their preferences among 17 offshore areas.

Among the four areas on both lists, this was the result:

—The CEQ put the Gulf of Alaska last, as the worst environmental risk. The oil industry put it first, as the best petroleum prospect. Interior scheduled it first.

—Both CEQ and the industry rated the Mid-Atlantic their second choice. Interior placed it second in the leasing schedule.

—The North Atlantic was CEQ's first choice. The oil industry put it in third place, and so did Interior.

—The CEQ ranked the South Atlantic third. Industry placed it fourth, and so did the Interior Department.

"There is great suspicion about the administration's posture in this," said Dukakis of Massachusetts, "because there's a feeling — whether rightly or wrongly — that things are done quickly and without much consultation, so that opposition can be headed off."

The widespread mistrust has spilled over, not only into the courts, but into Congress through proposals for greater public disclosure of offshore information and more direct federal control over petroleum development.

Interior's assistant secretary Roy Hughes, in charge of the offshore program, said the department can protect the public interest and doesn't need any new laws from Congress.

But Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., a leading spokesman for Interior's critics, said that the public, with 180 million acres and hundreds of billions of dollars at stake, needs the protection only new laws can provide.

Hollings said times have changed and Interior just hasn't caught on yet. "We've moved from dark operations of the House of Oil (Interior) that was run by the API (American Petroleum Institute) ... and the buddy-buddy system," Hollings drawled. "It's all got to be done in a different fashion now."

"The public's not going to stand business-usual down there by Big Oil and the Interior."

Working around-the-clock to supply canning lids

MUNCIE, Ind.— Ball Corporation, one of the nation's leading producers of home food preservation supplies, said it is continuing to manufacture replacement lids for home canning on an around-the-clock basis, seven days a week.

Despite this production schedule, in effect since Jan. 2, the company is not able to meet the continuing unprecedented nationwide demand for its products, Ball President John W. Fisher said.

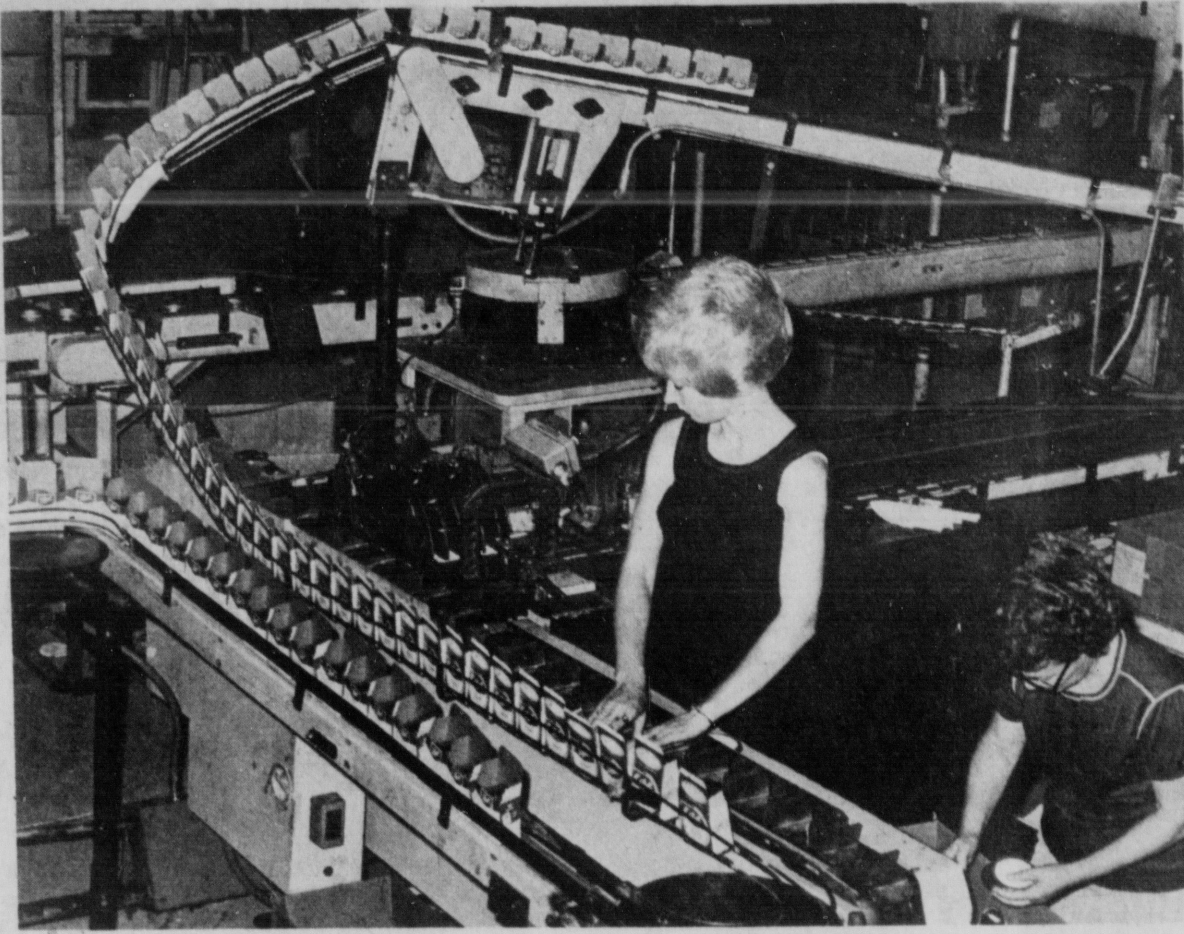

"We produce an astounding three million replacement caps and lids daily," Fisher said, "or over 20 million lids each week." All productive capacity is being utilized fully during every moment of time available, he said.

The surge in home canning, which began in 1973, rose sharply in 1974 and reached even higher levels in the first half of 1975. Most of this demand has been fueled by inflation and the overwhelming response of millions of American families to suggestions that they plant new gardens to help relieve inflationary pressures on their income. "This is a reflection of the immense demand generated by the American economy as people respond to a recognized need," Fisher said.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates there were 20 million home gardens in 1973. This rose to 26 million in 1974 and then jumped to 32.5 million in 1975.

Ball corporation, in the home-canning business since 1894, longer than any other company in the world, said its production statistics indicated that during times of economic stress, such as wars, depressions, inflation and recessions, Americans have traditionally turned to home canning as a means of easing part of the cost-of-living problem.

Federal government officials estimate that 1.6 billion replacement caps and lids will be produced by the industry in 1975. Ball Corporation believes this to be a realistic and achievable goal. The company's market surveys indicate some 23 to 24 million households, or 35 per cent of the nation's 65 million households, do some home canning. If this figure is correct this will mean approximately 70 lids for each home-canning family in the country.

Nearly three million home-canning lids roll off Ball Corporation's production lines in Muncie, Ind., each day of the week. Here they are packaged in dozens for shipment daily to distributors in all parts of the United States.

Ball Corporation does not sell its home-canning products directly to the end-user. The company markets its products in its traditional manner to wholesale grocers, chain store warehouses, and hardware distributor which, in turn, ship directly to retail outlets. The actual sale of the product and its distribution to individual retail stores and to the ultimate user is, therefore, not under Ball's control.

"Purchase of lids at the retail level and resale at higher prices—what is normally called black marketing—is beyond our control but is totally deplorable at any time but especially during times of severe national shortages," Fisher added. "Consumers are the best check against this practice. Refusal to buy anything other than a reasonable market price will drive the black-marketeers back under their rocks," he said.

Ball placed orders for additional lid-making machinery in 1974 when it realized the substantial demand was likely to continue. Approximately 18 months are required to engineer, build and install the equipment needed to complete the complex, highly automated lid-manufacturing line, which should be operating by year-end.

The present home-canning equipment-supply situation, Fisher said, can be traced to events beginning in 1973. As inflation pressures built, Ball's market information indicated heavy sales of garden seed and projected many new gardens and more new home canners. The company built its inventories in anticipation of a good home-canning year. Demand rose sharply in July 1973, at the same time a shortage developed in supplies of tinplate for lids and soda ash for glass fabrication. While sales were up in 1973, there were, nevertheless, shortages of glass and lids.

With these shortages fresh in mind, the consumers in 1974 were acutely aware of their food preservation needs. Ball's sales vastly exceeded any other winter quarter in the company's history as the consumers demanded supplies early. There was a general shortage of both glass and lids during the remainder of the year.

At the beginning of 1975, consumers again bought earlier and additionally in response to the urging of the President and other governmental officials to plant gardens. Ball's sales of home-canning products alone in the first quarters (January, February and March) of the last three years have been $166,000 in 1973; $5.75 million in 1974; and more than $13 million in 1975.

The shortages of materials, experienced in 1973 and 1974, have not been a problem in 1975. However, the company has not been able to build any appreciable amount of inventory because of the continuing strong demand and is shipping to customers' warehouses daily.

Ball products are being distributed to its customers on an allocation basis. Allocation formulas are based on an item-by-item average of the previous two years' sales (1973-1974) to each Ball customer. The increased 1975 production is assigned on an item basis to these customers.

Ball's sales of replacement home-canning closures, by individual units, from the end of 1972 through the end of 1974, rose 48 per cent. Another increase of approximately 29 per cent is estimated for 1975 over 1974, bringing the company's increase in production from the end of 1972 to an estimated 90 per cent by the end of this year. Production in 1976 is estimated to be 50 per cent above 1975.

Ball is presently shipping five replacement caps or lids for each lid which is shipped with a complete jar and cap unit. Ball home-canning glass-jar production will not be greater than it was in 1974 because of the apparent plentiful supply of jars already in consumers' homes or available in the marketplace.

More revenue sharing flexibility to townships

The Office of Revenue Sharing issued a special administrative ruling this month relating to the expenditure of general revenue sharing funds by Illinois Townships.

Revenue sharing law states that recipient units of government may spend their revenue sharing allocations only as they are permitted to spend their own revenues. When general revenue sharing began in 1972, Illinois townships were severely limited in their use of revenue sharing funds because of the restrictions on the expenditure of their own-source revenues.

To permit greater flexibility in allocating revenue sharing funds, the Illinois General Assembly passed a bill authorizing townships to spend shared revenues in all but one of the priority expenditure categories listed in the state and local fiscal assistance act of 1972 (revenue sharing law).

Since the new Illinois law did not authorize the townships to spend local revenues in those categories, however, the chief counsel of the Office of Revenue Sharing issued a letter opinion to the Illinois attorney general that expenditure of revenue sharing funds in those categories still violated the revenue sharing act. The attorney general issued an opinion to the director of the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs concurring with the chief counsel's statement.

The Illinois General Assembly thereupon enacted a bill permitting the townships to spend their own revenues in any of the priority expenditure categories, except that of financial administration. The attorney general of Illinois has issued an opinion finding that the amended law effectively authorizes townships to expend both their own revenues and revenue sharing funds for the purposes authorized in the revenue sharing act (except financial administration).

Walker asks Ford for disaster funds in Canton twister

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. Dan Walker Friday authorized a telegram to President Ford asking that Fulton County be declared a disaster area in order to receive federal assistance to help in its recovery from the tornado that swept through Canton Wednesday.

The telegram to the President said that the tornado caused extensive damage to public and private property.

The current damage estimate is more than $7.8 million, including $856,080 in damage to public property; $3.2 million in damage to private property; $1.5 million in damage to businesses and $2.3 million in agricultural damage.

Two people were killed, 14 hospitalized and 45 treated at the hospital and released as a result of the disaster.

The tornado destroyed 100 homes and 50 mobile homes and caused minor damage to 308 homes and 100 mobile homes. It damaged 127 businesses, totally destroying several of them. The Spoon River Electric Co-operative, the Central Grade School and the Ingersoll Gymnasium were among the damaged public facilities.

The Public Housing Authority and the Maintenance Building of the Canton Park District were damaged. The hospital was also damaged and there was much debris on the roads and streets.

The telegram said:

"I find that the situation is beyond the capabilities of the state and the affected city government to alleviate. The major destruction of homes is beyond the financial resources the city can provide for repairs and the tremendous destruction in the business community will only add to these financial problems. There is a possibility 150 families may require temporary housing."

Gov. Walker said in the telegram that he has also made direct requests for assistance to the Small Business Administration for loans to businesses and homeowners; the Corps of Engineers for help in clearing debris and providing a generator; and the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for assistance in damage estimation.

It was also asked that an Individual and Family Grant program begin in the area to provide loans for disaster victims.

It was estimated the total cost of the grant program at $1 million and requested that the federal government temporarily provide the state share, or 25 per cent of the program costs. State and local efforts in response to the disaster were outlined in the telegram.

The Illinois Department of Transportation furnished 14 trucks and 18 personnel; the Illinois National Guard provided 250 men; the Illinois Civil Defense Agency sent five men, a communication van and two radio vehicles; the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs sent two representatives to search for mobile home rentals; the Illinois Department of Insurance sent two estimators and the Illinois State Police provided 12 cruisers.

Civil Defense units in Canton and Mason County and the surrounding counties supplied at least 350 individuals for rescue, traffic control, lighting and other necessary tasks. The city and county have committed all personnel and equipment to the rescue and clean-up effort.

Indecent liberties charge filed

Jerry L. Smith, 33, Chicago Heights, was arrested on a charge of taking indecent liberties with a child following an incident with two juvenile girls.

Smith was charged following an investigation by Lee County Sheriff's Deputies into a child molesting. Smith, who resides at Woodhaven Lakes, near Amboy, is accused of molesting a 13-year-old juvenile from Oak Forest and a 14-year-old juvenile from Wheaton, who also are residing at Woodhaven Lakes. The incident allegedly occurred at LaMoille and Dry Gulch Roads, July 21. He was being held in jail and will appear in court at a later time.

Improvements being made at Lake Carlton

SPRINGFIELD — The building of a new campground, roads, toilets, a concession building and well in Morrison-Rockwood State Park, Whiteside County, has been started under Capital Development Board contracts which total $122,803, according to Conservation Director Tony Dean.

Contractors are: Lawrence and Sons Contracting Inc., Rock Falls, $76,619 for site clearing, grading and road base preparation; Savanna Construction Co., Savanna, $24,944 for general construction and $9,580 for well installation; Engel Electric Co., Sterling, $5,760 for electrical work; and Ross V. Bogott Co., Morrison, $5,900 for installation of plumbing.

Dean said the project involves:

—Building a 72-pad campground adjacent to the park's 20-unit camping area, construction of more than a mile of bituminous oil and gravel chip roadways within the campground, and installation of eight vault-type toilets.

—Erection of a frame concession building near the park's boat launching area and parking lot.

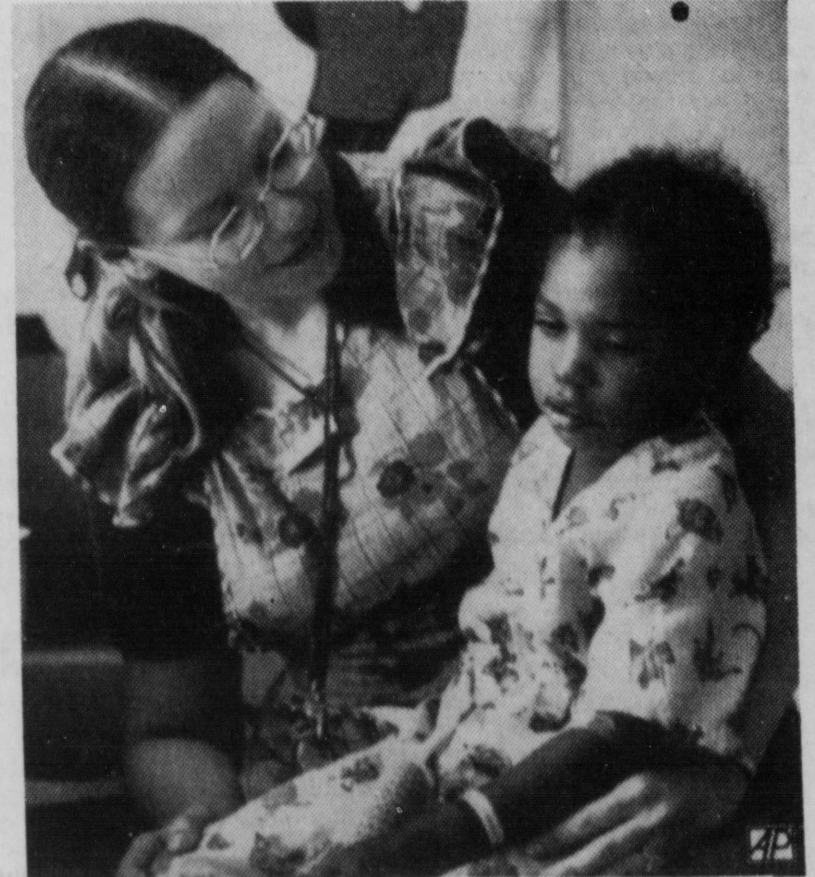

—Installation of a well to provide potable water to the campground and concession building.

All of the new facilities are north of Lake Carlton.

Dean said the work is expected to be completed by September. The concession building will be the first at the 1,152-acre park, 3 miles north of Morrison. The new campground will expand trailer facilities to help meet public demand at the new, heavily-used northwestern Illinois recreational area.

The program is part of the ongoing development of the park, which currently offers two wooded picnic areas, a 2-lane concrete boat-launching ramp, dockage for private boats, hiking trails, nine fishing piers and an abundance of wildlife and hardwood forest.

Nashville Brass at Milledgeville Fair

MILLEDGEVILLE— The sensational Danny Davis and his award-winning country music band, Nashville Brass, will entertain live at the Carroll County Fair on Aug. 9. There will be two shows beginning at 7 and 9 p.m.

The Nashville Brass began touring in September, 1969, and includes nine men. Five years in a row Danny and the Brass won the famous Country Music Association award, along with two Grammys and six Grammy nominations. In 1969 they won for their recording of "Ruby, Don't Take Your Love to Town."

The Davis group is very popular, combining concerts, records and TV appearances. On Aug. 8, the night before they appear at the Carroll County Fair, Davis and the Brass will perform at the Illinois State Fair at Springfield. Last August, the Davis troupe played at 27 fairs around the country, necessitating Danny owning his own plane, a converted airliner.

Danny bought the plane in 1972 and named it Lady Barbara for his wife. The plane is a Martin 404, the last one TWA purchased for its propeller-driven line before converting to jets. It is painted a beaming yellow with a blue streak and a yellow-on-blue musical horn designed on its nose.

Despite his frequent travel and his many other activities, Danny finds time to be active in the Nashville Area Chamber of Commerce and he works regularly with the Tennessee Association for Retarded Children, his favorite charity. Of all his awards, he is proudest of the Metronome Award given him in 1972 in Nashville, citing him as an "ambassador of good will."

John Fanella, computer.

There's a "device" in this room that's equipped with an immense memory bank that can receive customer complaints, sort through a maze of lines and cables, then send a crew to the trouble spot, all in a matter of minutes. That's him in the striped shirt.

His name is John Fanella and he's one of the many Edison dispatchers who are ready for action 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Because when there's an emergency, it's the dispatcher who gets the call. He's the man who uses raw information and his powers of deduction to estimate where, along the thousands of miles of overhead lines and underground cable, the problem lies. He's the man who then sends out the emergency crews to track it down and solve it. And because electricity is so vital to the welfare of a city, he must do all this with computer-like efficiency—whether the problem is an overloaded transformer or a tornado.

John Fanella has been through storms so bad that emergency crews had to be called in from as far away as Colorado. He's worked through the night restoring electricity to a factory so people could go back to work in the morning. He's even sent out a man to rescue a pet cat stranded on a pole.

In a day when some companies rely heavily on the impersonal response of a computer, we're glad to have John and our other dispatchers. As he puts it "I have the highest respect for this department and our people. They're the most dedicated people I've ever met. But you've got to be dedicated to be in this business."

Elmhurst wins tournament

By JIM FOX

Telegraph Sports Writer
Greg Dvorak drove in two runs with a bases-loaded single to cap a three-run seventh inning in leading Elmhurst over Barrington 4-3 in the championship game of the American Legion tournament at Reynolds Field Sunday afternoon.

Jamie Werly, possessor of two no-hitters this season, picked up the win, firing four innings of one-hit relief. Keith West suffered the loss.

Elmhurst beat Barrington, Streator beat Morrison, Saturday morning; Elmhurst beat Streator, Barrington beat Morrison, Saturday afternoon; and Barrington beat Streator Sunday afternoon before entering championship vs. Elmhurst. Barrington scored first in the championship contest as the visitors pushed a lone run across in the third. West walked, advanced on a wild pitch, and score on a double off the bat of Kevin Fromm.

Elmhurst knotted the score in the bottom of the inning when lead-off batter Jim Cozzi smashed a long home-run over the left-field fence. West and Elmhurst starter Paul Wendt both pitched good games until tiring in the late innings of the championship battle.

The Barrington American Legion squad knocked Wendt from the mound in the sixth as it put two runs on the board. Fromm led off with a walk and moved up on a Jon Pratt base hit. Tom Burke followed with a run-scoring double to right center marking the end of Wendt.

Werly came in and hurled four strong innings, striking out seven batters. Barrington tallied its third run in the sixth on a nicely executed suicide squeeze by Mike Proksa, bringing Pratt across.

Elmhurst broke loose in the seventh, scoring three unearned runs. Barrington should have gotten out of the inning with no harm, but a two-out error set up the winning rally.

With two on and two outs, shortstop Fromm mishandled a routine bouncer, loading the bases and opening the flood gates. West was then taken out in favor of reliever Pat Donovan.

Donovan's first pitch sailed past the catcher for a wild pitch, plating one and bringing Elmhurst within one. After a walk to load the bases again, Dvorak connected and ripped a clutch single to right, driving in two and giving Elmhurst a 4-3 lead.

Barrington could do nothing against Werly as the big right-hander put the visitors last 10 batters down in order.

Dvorak's hit proved to be the winning blow as Elmhurst took the title game in an exciting, well-played contest.

The Dixon Police edged past the Dairy Queen to win the championship and complete its season with a perfect 10-0 record. The game turned out to be a defensive battle as both teams scored early and then played shutout ball. There were no runs scored after the third inning when the Police team scored four runs as Cathy Moore and Peggy Ryser each hit a two-run homer. Ryser also had a single and Pam Mey a pair of hits for the winners. Whitney Belcher had a first-inning double and then scored the first run. Jan Wolfe led off the game for Dairy Queen with a long triple and scored moments later as cousin Chris Wolf powered out a home run. Jan Wolfe added another triple in the third that proved to be the DQ's last hit for the evening. Dairy Queen committed only one error while the Dixon Police had two. ## Berra hates twinbills

CHICAGO (AP) — "Whew, those doubleheaders," said Manager Yogi Berra of the New York Mets Sunday. "They have been the death of us. I'm getting to the point of being happy, very happy with a split."

Yogi had no choice but to be happy with the split Sunday since the Chicago Cubs won the first game 4-2 on a pair of home runs by Bill Madlock. The Mets came back to grab the nightcap 4-1 with a three-run spurge in the 10th inning.

"We've now played seven doubleheaders," said Berra. "We won one, lost four and split two. That means we've lost 10 games in doubleheaders. Now we got one in St. Louis Tuesday and we get another one next Sunday."

The Mets held a 1-0 lead behind Hank Webb in the second game when Pete LaCock unloaded his fifth homer in the seventh tie.

Felix Millan, whose 19-game hitting streak came to a halt on Steve Stone's four-hitter in the opener, led off the 10th inning with a single and one out later

Rusty Staub singled off Paul Reuschel.

Dave Kingman, who hit his 22nd homer in the first game, struck out but Joe Torre walked to fill the bases and Wayne Garrett followed with a two-run single. John Stearns also singled across a run.

Webb picked up his third victory against three losses but was lifted for a pinch batter in the 10th and Ken Sanders finished up.

The first game was practically all Stone and Madlock.

Stone was reached for a run in the first inning on a walk, a single by Ed Kranepool and a sacrifice fly by Staub. The Cubs got this run back in the second when Joe Cardenal doubled, stole third and continued home on catcher Jerry Grote's throwing error.

Madlock, who has six straight hits in Saturday's game, uncorked a two-run homer in the third to put the Cubs ahead to stay.

Kingman cut the margin with his third homer in as many games in the top of the seventh but Madlock got it right back in the bottom of the seventh with his sixth homer.

Stone, 8-5, kept the Mets hitless after Kingman's homer. The Mets, who have won seven of their last nine games, go to St. Louis for a four-game series beginning Monday night.

Jon Matlack, 11-8, will start against Ken Forsch. The Cubs will take on the Montreal Expos and Bill Bonham, 9-6, will face Dennis Blair, 6-11.

Running away with East

Red Sox sweep Yankees

By HOWARD SMITH

AP Sports Writer
Break up the Red Sox!!!!

The boys from Boston are running away with the American League East and they don't expect to be caught from behind.

"I don't think we can blow it," said Manager Darrell Johnson. "These boys just love to play baseball and they play the hell out of it."

"Lose? No chance," said rookie outfielder Fred Lynn. "Well...there's always a possibility but the chances are really slim."

"If we stay healthy, no one is going to catch us," added pitcher Bill Lee. "We have the best ballclub."

The reason for all the optimism was a 1-0, 6-0 sweep of the New York Yankees Sunday, a twin-killing that lifted the Red Sox games ahead of second-place Baltimore in the East Division. Lee and Roger Moret pitched six-hitters as Boston won for the 17th time in the last 20 games.

Elsewhere in the American League, Oakland swept a doubleheader from Chicago 10-1, 7-1. Baltimore took two games from Milwaukee 7-4 and 11-6 in 10 innings. California coasted by Minnesota 6-1, Kansas City shaded Texas 2-1 and Detroit split with Cleveland, winning 87 and losing 7-2.

Lee, 13-6, outdueled Catfish Hunter, 13-10, in the first game. Lynn reached first on an error by shortstop Jim Mason in the ninth inning, stole second and scored on Rick Miller's single for the game's only run.

Boston had an easier time of it in the nightcap as Jim Rice rapped four hits and drove in two runs, and Carl Yastrzemski hit his 12th home run of the year.

Orioles 7-11, Brewers 4-6
Baltimore rallied for six runs in the ninth to tie the second game and five more in the 10th to win it. Doug DeCinces' two-run triple and Al Bumbry's two-run homer keyed the rally in the ninth while Tommie Davis hit a grand slam homer in the 10th.

Angels 7, Twins 6
Dick Lange, 4-3, posted his first complete game victory of the season and had a shutout until Tony Oliva homered in the ninth.

Morrison schedule

Tonight at Borg-Warner Field, Zephyr Gas and Dixon National Bank will meet in a 6 p.m. playoff for second place in the Pny League while Dixon Home Savings and Loan will tangle with the Rotary in a playoff for first place in the American Division of the Bronco League.

On Tuesday, the Future League All-Star game will be held at 5:30 p.m. at Borg-Warner Field while Borg-Warner will also be the site of the Bronco League championship contest on Wednesday at 6 p.m. with Burke Real Estate representing the National Division against the winner of Monday night's playoff.

The Pee Wee All-Star game will be held at 6 p.m. Thursday at Borg-Warner with the even teams versus the odd teams in the order of final standings, while on Friday the Bronco League All-Star 5:30 p.m. contest will be held at Borg-Warner with the American Division Stars meeting the National Division.

Al Morrison banquet

The Al Morrison baseball banquet will be held Aug. 4 beginning at 7 p.m. at Emerald Hill. For tickets and more information, call Ike Mercer (288-4708) or Art Mavens (284-2323).

Jack Thompson and Mrs. Charles Kested teamed up for a 29 to win the best-ball twosome blind-partner round at Dixon Country Club Friday. John Douglas and Mrs. Neal Paulos took second with a 30 while Charles Hansen and Mrs. Dave Miller claimed third with 31. Frank Schotka and Mrs. George Balser took fourth (32) with Dr. George Balser and Mrs. William Short fifth (33).

White Sox are... tra la, tra la

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland A's again showed they have the combination that wins baseball championships — power hitting and impressive pitching.

They swept a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox Sunday with Reggie Jackson and Joe Rudi providing the punch and Vida Blue and Stan Bahnsen the pitching.

"You have to play perfect baseball to beat them," Chicago Manager Chuck Tanner said. "We're lucky to be 7-7 with them this season."

In the first game, Blue pitched an eight-hitter to beat the Sox 10-1 for his 14th victory. Jackson hit a two-run homer in the third inning, and Rudi drove in three runs with a sixth inning homer and a double in the eighth.

Bahnsen, obtained in a trade with the White Sox earlier this season, also pitched an eight-hitter to win the second game, 7-1. Jackson hit a two-run homer in the first inning and Rudi led off the third inning with a homer.

Jackson now has 25 home runs, five in the last seven games, and 71 runs batted in. "I changed my stance just a little," Jackson said. "It's a technical thing, but it lets me see the ball better and have a little more time before I swing."

A's Manager Alvin Dark said he was surprised by how well his team is playing without pitcher Jim "Catfish" Hunter.

now with the New York Yankees. "The new pitchers, particularly Stan Bahnsen and Jim Todd, are doing a great job for us."

Dark predicted it will take 96 victories to win the American League West pennant. The A's have already won 64 games so would need to win only 31 of their final 61 games to reach that figure.

"But it's still a long season and lots of things can happen," Dark added.

The A's collected 27 hits including four home runs and three doubles in Sunday's game. Bert Campaneris had five hits. Claudell Washington had three and drove in two runs, and Bill North had three hits and scored twice before leaving the second game with an ankle injury.

Blue complained of some stiffness in his left shoulder but still went all the way to win the first game. He struck out only two but walked one.

"My shoulder isn't sore, just a little stiff," Blue said, noting that he plans to see a doctor Tuesday.

The A's won three of the four games with the White Sox over the weekend. The only Chicago victory was Jim Kite's 5-2 triumph Saturday in which he won his 15th game of the year.

The A's open a three-game series with the Texas Rangers tonight with Jim Perry, 4-9, pitching against Bill Hands of the Rangers.

FUTURE LEAGUE Moose Club 7, Optimist 5

The Moose claimed second place in the Future League with the triumph while the Optimist drops to third. Kyle Moats, Dan Lohse and Jim Yoakum doubled for the Moose (12-3) and Scott Angleton tripled. Angleton went five innings and struck out 14 to gain the victory. The Moose was down 5-0 but rallied for four runs in the fourth on hits by Angleton, Lohse and Callaway. The Moose scored three more runs in the fifth on a two-run triple by Angleton, who then crossed the plate on a throwing error. As Angleton crossed the plate, the Optimist catcher allegedly tripped and then jumped on the runner. The catcher was ejected and the Optimist walked off the diamond and forfeited. Venier homered for the losers.

Weiskopf edges Nicklaus

ILE BIZARD, Que. (AP) — There was an air of deep, in-tense satisfaction, almost retribu-tion, in Tom Weiskopf's atti-tude.

He'd just conquered Jack Nicklaus in a sudden death playoff Sunday for the Cana-dian Open Golf Championship.

And Weiskopf's thoughts drifted back to the spring of the year and "the greatest dis-appointment of my life," at Au-gusta, Ga. and the Masters.

He lost that tournament by a stroke to Nicklaus, a record fourth time he's been second there.

"I thought I got over it in a couple of weeks," he said. "But I didn't. It really took it out of me. I haven't played much since then and I haven't played very well. The disappointment is the reason."

"It's a great thrill, it means a lot to win a national cham-pionship."

Weiskopf, who scored a dra-matic birdie on the first extra hole, benefitted from two Nick-laus' lapses and a little putting lesson Jack gave him early in the week.

Nicklaus, playing well in front of Weiskopf, appeared to have his first Canadian national championship in his pocket when he stood on the 18th tee. But, not knowing that Weis-kopf was in trouble and on his way to a bogey on the 16th, Jack pull-hooked his drive into a lake on the left of the 18th and eventually made bogey. That cut his lead to a single stroke.

Weiskopf, a close friend who will play as Nicklaus' partner in the National Team cham-pionship later in the year, ram

Iowa congressman works with rail section gang

CARLISLE, Iowa (AP) — Tom Harkin leaned on his sledgehammer, mopped his brow and squinted into the sun from under his new orange hard hat.

"Yesterday at this time, I was on the floor of the House," the 35-year-old Democratic congressman puffed. "I'm really going to be beat tonight."

It was mid-morning in what Iowans call "corn weather" — the temperature at 80 degrees, sultry humidity and the sun a few hours away from signaling lunch for the Rock Island railroad section crew.

The Iowa representative was putting in another of his "work days" during Congress' Fourth of July recess. Since 7 a.m., he had been helping replace ties on a section of worn-out track that elevators and farmers rely on to ship grain.

"Work days" started during Harkin's 1974 campaign to unseat William Scherle, 61, an eight-year Republican veteran of the House.

Some say the program helped Harkin oust the conservative farmer from his 5th Congressional District seat. Others say the work days are nothing more than a two-year campaign for re-election.

Either way, the idea has caught on.

While Harkin was laying new track between Indianola and Carlisle, Democratic Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin was hauling garbage.

Other members of Congress adopting the Harkin idea include Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., and Rep. Charles Thone, R-Neb.

Harkin says he is trying to keep in touch with his constituents, with the taxpayers that he says are the "salt of this earth, the backbone of this country."

"In the old days, Congress could meet for maybe six months of the year and then go home," Harkin explained. "There were a lot more laborers, farmers, small businessmen in Congress then. They were an integral part of their communities."

"Today, the only time an elected official gets out is when he's campaigning for re-election."

"If I were president, I'd have every department head, every top level bureaucrat, including the Henry Kissingers, doing some kind of work days. I'd have the agriculture secretary working on a farm to really talk to the farmers, labor department people working in a small business to see how OSHA (Occupational Safety and Health Act) really affects them," he said.

Harkin has clerked in a drug store, waited tables in a cafe, slaughtered cattle in a meat locker, emptied bed pans in a nursing home, walked a mail route, coached crafts with handicapped children in a day care center, shoveled manure on a farm and cooked and changed diapers as a housewife.

The only time that Harkin really got to talk to the men was during a 30-minute lunch break.

The men talked some about the fate of the financially troubled Rock Island, unemployment and President Ford's chances for re-election. But Harkin found himself mostly involved in small talk, chatter about the good old days.

THE WIELAND FAMILY is considered one of finest most versatile family musical acts on the road today and consisting of both young men and women from 14 to 24 years old with the older ones all college graduates and the younger ones still enrolled either in college or high school. They present a varied instrumental program interspersed with singing acrobatics and tap dancing plus some humorous situations. Many of them displaying their musical ability by playing a number of different instruments throughout the program. It all adds up to a very outstanding program that has much family appeal.

BOB TRENT, a very personable young talented comedian with very much vim, vigor and vitality, and one who wants to keep things moving at a fast pace as an M.C. but who also has some new refreshingly funny material which he uses plus his excellent timing which is so essential to a comic. In addition he is considered one of America's top ventriloquist presenting a very unique act that features Lucy Leghorn and Roscoe Crow. Bob Trent has M.C. the programs where many of the large T.V. Celebrities were starred, namely extended tours with Ken Curtis (Festus of Gunsmoke), Jeannie C. Riley, Sonny James, Lassie, Hank Williams Jr., etc.
